preparing for 'new normal'

As companies prepare for the return of their staff to the workplace, everyone is having to think in a new and adaptive way.

Valley Provincial are here to help provide solutions to relieve some of the inevitable anxieties that will be uppermost in many people's minds.

stations

Our 'new natural' instinct is to reach for the sanitiser after handling items, opening doors and touching surfaces.

With increased hygiene at the top of the list in the fight against Covid-19, these hands-free sanitising stations are ready-to-use and can be positioned wherever they are needed. What's more, this stylish stainless-steel design means they won't be an eyesore!
